

HISTORIC NEW YORK THEATRE TO BE RAZED

New York, Oct. 6.—Two historic landmarks—the Union Square theatre and the Morton House—which have stood for half a century in Union Square, at one time famous as the center of New York's theatre, are to be razed to make way for more modern structures.

The Union Square, built and opened by Sheridan Square in 1871, began as a vaudeville house. Later it became a first-class repertory house in which many of the famous actors and actresses of the present day made their debut. Hawkins up to date as a burlesque theatre.

As a variety or vaudeville house it opened with a program including the Martinetti-Ravel troupe of pantomimists, the team of Harrigan and Hart and Jefferson the Angel.

came Mrs. Nat Goodwin; Clara Jennings and Emily Mestayer; James O'Neill, later of "Monte Cristo" fame; J. H. Stoddard, Mark Smith, Charles P. Thorne, Jr., Maude Harrison and Agnes Booth came later.

New plays were soon added by the company which took on other players including McKee Rankin, Louis Adrich, John Parselle, C. T. Parzole, Minnie Palmer, Rose Kyttinge, F. F. Mackay, Marie Williams, Charles Coghlan and Richard Mansfield.

The most famous success of the Union Square was the "Two Orphans" translated from the French and hawked about for $1,500 until Palmer read it. The play ran 150 nights and was the sensation of the theatrical season. Kate Claxton, who played "Louise," the blind girl, taught it outright and played it for 20 years.

Other famous plays produced were "The Banker's Daughter," "My Partner," "The Celebrated Case," "Arkwright's Wife," and "Brighton." The successes were followed by stock productions in which Frank Mayo, Minnie Palmer, Nelly Howard, Owen Fawcett, Kate Dunda Wilson, Charles L. Harris, Lawrence O'Leary and Augustus Cook and others played.

The first performance of "The Mikado" in New York was given in the Union Square with Roland Reed and Alice Harmon in the title roles.

In 1885, James M. Hill took the theatre and brought out a new and unheard of Romeo and Juliet. During his management, Chauncey O'Leary, claimed his first engagement in opera. A little later, Charlie Chaplin, now famous moving picture comedian, made his debut in New York with a small part in a specialty company which lasted a week and was a frost. Later the theatre was turned over to Keith, who operated it as a vaudeville house for many years, after which it became a burlesque stock house.

The history of the theatre and the Morton House, are closely linked, as they adjoined. The latter was a great place for the meeting for the actors and managers. It was also the home of a group of politicians of the old school, of which John Reilly, the old register and Tammany leader of the East Side was dean. His table in the Morton was always surrounded by friends of that day.

Brooklyn Man Has Rapid Recuperation After Typhoid Fever

Mr. Walter Cuneo, of 523 Clinton Street, Brooklyn, N. Y., was in a very weak state after an attack of typhoid fever. Only those who have gone through that terribly wasting disease know the pitifully weak and exhausted condition in which it leaves the patient.

In a recent letter relating his experience, Mr. Cuneo says:

"When I was able to get up and walk around, the doctor said it would be fully a month or more before I would get back strength. I had pains on both of my sides and around my heart. One evening my brother saw your advertisement in the newspaper and my mother got me a large bottle of Wincarnis.

By the time I had finished the bottle the pains on my right side were gone. I continued to take Wincarnis and soon the pain on my left side and around my heart disappeared and I quickly became well and strong and was feeling fine long before the time the doctor had said it would take me to get well.

My friends couldn't get over how rapidly I was improving and kept asking me what it was that I was taking that made me look so well so quickly. There is no more trustworthy general tonic than Wincarnis for those who wish to regain their strength quickly after a wasting illness.

Wincarnis enriches the blood, invigorates the nerves, promotes nutrition and increases the forces of resistance of the entire system to disease. It is composed of substances that render it wonderfully beneficial where the system has "run down" and become weak, the blood is poor, the nerves are "unstrung," the organs lack functional power and the entire body is in want of the degree of vigor that denotes normal robustness and stamina.

Wincarnis is put up in two sizes—$1.10 and $1.95. It is sold by National Drug Stores, Main and Shetucket Sts., and all other first-class drug stores.

Write for free instructive booklet, "Tundred Per Cent. Health. How to Obtain It," to Edward Lescage, Inc., Dept. F, 400 West 23rd Street, New York, U. S. Agents for Wincarnis.
